WASHINGTON (AP) — B-29 Superfortresses of the 20th Bomber Command struck a double blow at Japan today, hitting in medium strength at the industrial city of Nagasaki on the Japanese mainland and smashing an oil refinery at Palembang on the Netherlands Indies island of Sumatra.

Nagasaki, one of Japan's most important shipbuilding and repair centres and a major military port, is on the island of Kyushu, in the highly industrialized area already twice hit by Superfortresses based in China.

Palembang is the site of the Pladjo oil refinery, the largest in the Orient and the principal source of aviation gasoline for the enemy.

Missing Duncan Car Found at Colwood

An hour after a car owned by Dr. W. B. Clayton, Duncan dentist, had been reported missing from a street at the upland centre, it was found this afternoon by Constable John Lockie of the B.C. Police near Colwood. Police said two youths from the Fairbridge Farm School were in the car.

Queen Charlottes Source Of Quake Of Great Intensity

Earth tremors which would have been destructive had they occurred in a populated place were recorded on seismographs at the Dominion Astrophysical Observatory here Wednesday night.

Dr. J. A. Pearce, director of the observatory, announced today the epicentre of the shocks was a point about 700 miles northwest of Victoria, probably in the vicinity of the Queen Charlotte Islands.

He said the tremors began at 6:54 Wednesday night and the seismographs continued to record shocks for two hours. The shocks as recorded on the machines here were described as "moderately strong."

Dr. Pearce said had the shocks occurred on the San Francisco "fault" line with a centre close to a city they would undoubtedly have caused destruction. He said it was possible, however, that the source of the tremors was under the ocean and in such case the shocks would have been cushioned before reaching a village in the Queen Charlottes.

Roosevelt Visits Hawaii; Sees War Chiefs

HONOLULU (Delayed, AP) — President Roosevelt today concluded three days of military conferences and inspections on this fortress island where 2½ years ago Japanese bombs blasted the United States into the war.

The President arrived at Pearl Harbor July 26 from the marine base at San Diego, Calif., where he had boarded a cruiser shortly after his July 20 speech, accepting renomination for a fourth term.

Here he held his first wartime conference across-the-table with the top strategists of the Pacific — Admiral Nimitz and Gen. MacArthur.

Admiral Nimitz and Gen. MacArthur went aboard the President's ship to greet him when he arrived at Pearl Harbor.

"It's good to see you, Doug," the President said to MacArthur. With them and Nimitz in later conferences were Admiral William F. Halsey, commander of the 3rd Fleet.

Seated and smiling, Mr. Roosevelt swapped almost an hour of questions and answers with Pacific war correspondents and White House reporters.

YANKS GOING BACK

The Americans are going back to the Philippines, Mr. Roosevelt said, and MacArthur is going to be a part of the operation. You can't say, he smiled, whether the general is going back directly or by way of North Africa — but he is going back and the United States is going to give the islands their independence.

The goal still is unconditional surrender for all our enemies, he said. Whatever is required, he continued, the Americans are going right through to clean up the Japanese.

A reporter asked if new offensives against Japan would develop soon and the President said yes, but reminded his listeners that soon is a relative term and that strategy is a constantly shifting thing.

Nazis Dispersed In Channel Fight

LONDON (AP) — Light British naval forces dispersed two German formations just north of Le Havre Wednesday, in a shifting battle in which enemy ships soon were firing at each other, the Admiralty announced tonight.

Three German vessels were torpedoed and one was left burning. The Admiralty said British suffered no loss or damage.

Today's German communique claimed that "special weapons of the German navy," otherwise undefined, had been used in the Seine Bay to sink six loaded supply vessels totalling 25,500 tons, a destroyer and an escort vessel.

Drew Government Plans to Block Family Allowances

TORONTO (CP) — Premier Drew, terming the Family Allowance Bill passed by the Commons and now before the Senate an "obvious bribe" brought down on the eve of a "very important election" in Quebec, said his government plans to do all it can to make sure the bill does not go into effect.

Speaking over a provincial network of the CBC Wednesday night, Drew said family allowances would mean "that money from the pockets of the people of Ontario would go 'for the special advantage of the Province of Quebec'."

Drew said it would be impossible for the federal government to pay "the baby bonus and other obligations they have assumed without continuing to occupy the field of taxation vacated by the provinces."

PROVINCIAL JURISDICTION?

Drew said he had been advised by the Provincial Attorney-General that family allowances "are entirely within provincial jurisdiction."

"If our money is to be used under the agreement (Dominion-Provincial taxation agreement), then it is to be used for total war," he added.

Apart from the fact the Family Allowance Bill "was such an obvious bribe," said Mr. Drew, "the people of Ontario would be called upon to pay half of the initial $200,000,000 involved."

Cyclone Wrecks Kamsack, Sask.; 37 Badly Hurt

KAMSACK, Sask. (CP) — The people of Kamsack worked alone throughout the night to care for their injured after the town was practically flattened in two minutes by a cyclone.

The storm struck at 11:15 p.m., and at 11:17 some 400 buildings, including the entire length of Third Avenue, the main street of this division point of the C.N.R., were in shambles.

The town's one doctor, aided by volunteers, worked through the night to care for the 37 injured, and townsmen probed in the darkness amid the wreckage to track people who could not be located. The town has a population of about 1,800.

Garbled reports coming from Kamsack at noon today indicated two persons were believed to be missing.

Four persons suffered serious injuries, and two of them were not expected to live.

HOSPITAL DAMAGED

Facilities of King Edward Hospital, which escaped damage, were taxed to the utmost to care for the injured.

Without communication facilities, the town was alone in its tragedy until the middle of this forenoon, when word was sent to nearby communities.

A line man went outside the town and tapped a standing line to get word of the tragedy outside.

Relief convoys were organized at Yorkton, Stenen, and Canora to come to Kamsack's aid.

Damage was estimated at $5,000,000.

Boeing Aircraft Need 800 Workers For B.C. Plants

Award of "large" contracts for B-29 parts will cause Boeing Aircraft Co. to increase its staff by 800, John McGraw, manager of the Vancouver plant, said today.

This means Boeing will have a staff of 8,800 by Oct. 31 as the plant swings into production of parts for the famed B-29 bombers built to raid Japan.

Half of the 800 new workers will be women, Horace Keetch, assistant regional superintendent of Selective Service, said.

The building of parts for the B-29 will in no way interfere with Boeing's present U.S. contract for Catalinas, Mr. McGraw said.

Boeing's maintain two plants in B.C. One in Vancouver and one in Victoria. To date, the Victoria plant has been engaged in making parts for Catalinas.

Airborne Troops Consolidated As Complete Army

By GLADWIN HILL. ALLIED SUPREME HEADQUARTERS (AP) — The Canadian 1st Army lunged ahead against stiffening enemy resistance today east of Caen toward Vimont and the road to Paris, and U.S. armor was believed to be driving into the last 50-mile zone of defence for Paris as Supreme Headquarters announced formation of a revolutionary new airborne army, presaging new blows for victory.

The Germans themselves, confronted by a powerful 175-mile British-Canadian-American "arc," called the fight a "battle for Paris."

They had abandoned without a serious fight the key city of Le Mans, 110 miles from the French capital, apparently giving up all idea of a stand along the Alençon-Le Mans-Tours line and their next comparable system of lateral communications ran from Orleans northwards through Chartres, approximately 50 miles from Paris. The Allied communique confirmed a BBC report that U.S. troops were inside Nantes.

The new airborne organization, consolidating all Gen. Eisenhower's paratroopers, glider troops and necessary flying personnel into one outfit approximately the size of a full army, is headed by Lt. Gen. Lewis H. Brereton, a veteran of the Pacific, Mediterranean and European theatres who formerly commanded the U.S. 9th Air Force.

DECISIVE POWER

This force, with its unprecedented mobile striking power, is believed capable of delivering some of the most decisive strokes of the war.

Supreme Headquarters wrapped in official mystery the actual whereabouts of the U.S. spearheads which last were reported by the Germans to be probing points 87 miles from Paris, but one qualified observer declared, "You can be pretty sure they are not just camping outside Le Mans."

At the northern end of the arc, however, the Germans were rushing troops southward across the Seine, and had succeeded in erecting a new, but makeshift anti-tank screen around the Canadian wedge driven 16 miles south of Caen to within five miles of Falaise.

Ft. Gen. H. D. G. Crerar's Canadian 1st Army was finding the going harder, but it thrust to the east toward Vimont and the road to Paris where Gen. Montgomery's original push stalled three weeks ago.

MEET S.S. TROOPS

Ross Munro, in a field dispatch, said the Germans had thrown veterans S.S. troops in the path of the 1st Canadian Army's attack, and although the Canadian-British attack had been slowed down, it was still moving forward.

On the Canadian right the British army widened its strategic bridgehead across the river Orne, in a 4,000-yard advance.

Canadians Mop Up Fascist Elements In South Florence

By NOLAN NORGARD. ROME (AP) — The Vatican took steps today to help the Allies relieve the plight of the population of Florence, while Canadian troops, aided by 250 Italian patriots, mopped up hostile Fascist elements in the Allied-held southern portion of the city.

This was the first report in several weeks of Canadian troops active in infantry actions in Italy. Norgard's dispatch did not make clear how many Canadian troops were involved, nor what their unit designations were, although they presumably are part of the 8th Army.

Canadian tank units have recently been reported fighting in support of Italian infantry in the 8th Army's thrust on Florence.

New Reich Decrees Ban Entertainment, Public Meetings

LONDON (CP) — Propaganda Minister Goebbels banned all public meetings and entertainments in Germany not directly connected with the war today in a series of sweeping decrees seeking troops for the Reich's depleted armies.

Acting in his new capacity as Reich plenipotentiary for the total war effort, the little minister dug deeper into the thinly spread home front manpower of Germany for reserves.

All domestic servants of foreign extraction were directed immediately into war industry. German servants will go into army uniforms, into war factories or into families with children where servants may be deemed essential.

The decrees reduce the number of employees in railways, postal and cultural services. The Berlin radio said they would soon be published formally.

Jap Warship Sunk With 15 Other Craft

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. submarines operating in Japanese waters have destroyed another 16 enemy vessels, including one warship, the navy announced today.

The latest bag of the far-ranging submarines, which may have operated in coastal waters of the Japanese homeland, brings to 339 the number of Japanese ships of all types sunk, probably sunk or damaged by submarines alone.

Included in that total are 34 warships definitely sent to the bottom, 11 probably sunk and 14 damaged. The damage to the enemy merchant fleet includes 633 ships sunk, 26 probably sunk and 101 damaged.

Count Raises S.C. Seats In Alberta to 44

EDMONTON (CP) — The Alberta Social Credit government, triumphant in Wednesday's provincial general election, saw in prospect a slender band of opposition members for the next Legislature as late returns from city constituencies came in today.

After Social Crediters had chalked up victories for more than 40 of the 57 seats in the Legislature, Mayor Andy Davidson, chief magistrate of Calgary since 1930, won reelection in his home city as an Independent.

Soon afterwards, Elmer Roper, provincial C.C.F. leader, was re-elected in Edmonton.

Also elected in Edmonton were Premier E. C. Manning and N. B. James, Social Credit; J. Percy Page, Independent, and W. J. Williams, Veterans' candidate.

In Calgary, other candidates elected were: Fred Anderson and Ald. Mrs. Rose Wilkinson, Social Credit; H. B. MacDonald, Independent, and F. O. A. J. E. Liesemer, C.C.F.

This afternoon the provincial standing showed 44 Social Crediters elected, 3 Independents, 2 C.C.F., and 1 Veterans' candidate.

Leading in contests still to be decided were 6 Social Crediters and 1 Independent.

At dissolution of the Legislature in July, Social Credit held 35 seats; Independents, 15; Liberals, 3; Labor, 1; C.C.F. 1 and Independent-Social Credit 1. One seat was vacant.

SERVICE VOTE
Counting of the vote under the proportional representation system started in the five-member constituencies of Calgary and Edmonton, Wednesday night, after a special staff at Edmonton had completed the sorting of ballots cast Monday by some 4,000 Alberta men and women in the services within the province.

There was delay in getting all the service ballot boxes to the distribution staff, and the Calgary and Edmonton ballots reached returning officers at these cities only Wednesday night.

They at once proceeded to establish the quotas necessary for election, and to elect and eliminate candidates.

Election officials said the soldier vote was unlikely to cause any changes in the 47 single-member constituencies where the single transferable system of election is used.

At a session to be held in a few weeks, the government will make arrangements for three additional members-at-large to be elected by Alberta servicemen and women in the forces outside the province.

GOT BIG VOTE
Mr. Manning polled a heavy personal vote in Edmonton. With the quota necessary for election, 6,205, he had a surplus of 7,965. Many of the second choices in this surplus went to Mr. James.

In Calgary the quota required for election was 6,532. Edmonton had 20 candidates for its five Legislative seats and Calgary 19.

The extent of the Social Credit victory in the election was indicated by the estimate of Edmonton authorities that more than 50 of the 184 candidates in the contest would lose their deposits of $100 each because they obtained too few votes.

Incomplete returns indicated Social Credit received 53 per cent of the popular vote with 25 per cent going to the C.C.F., which nominated a candidate for every seat as did the government party.

The Independents, whose share of the popular vote in 1940 was almost equal that given Social Credit, had about 15 per cent of the vote cast Tuesday.

MacPHERSON DEFEATED
A second provincial party leader went down to defeat in the Edmonton this morning. He was James A. MacPherson, Labor-Progressive leader, who was eliminated on the 11th count of ballots.

Defeat of James H. Walker, Independent leader, was decided in the southern constituency of Warner Tuesday evening.

Canadian Tanks Cleaned Out Town In Falaise Drive

By LOUIS V. HUNTER
WITH THE 1ST CANADIAN ARMY IN FRANCE (CP) — Canadian armored and motorized units have been playing an important part in the advance of Dominion and British troops along the Falaise road south of Caen.

The extent of their success cannot yet be accurately reported because of the confused type of fighting in which they have been engaged in the forward areas; but they captured one town and have accounted for at least three enemy tanks and a battery of 88-mm. guns.

One group of tanks from an eastern Canadian regiment, working with a motorized unit from Ontario, had advanced easily as far as Cintheux in the wooded hills south of Caen, when it came into its first bit of trouble.

Eighty-eight were firing at the tanks from the area of Cintheux, while Tiger tanks plastered them from point 103 on the left flank.

CLEANED OUT!
It was an infantry task to clean out Cintheux, but the tanks were in advance of the foot-sloggers, and the tank commander decided the only way to pass the block was to clean it out with his own armor. This was done, and after the tanks had gone through, the infantry followed and cleaned out the town.

One group of tanks went right into the town, while others covered them from east of the road. The tanks' bag inside the town included a battery of six 88-mm. guns and a couple of self-propelled guns. The tanks passed back about 30 prisoners, and left another 60 dead.

ROUGH COUNTRY
Then they pushed through the valley immediately to the southeast of Cintheux, advancing to a point just north of Haut Mesnil. It was real tank-killing country through which they pushed, but the sortie was made without much difficulty. Few mines were encountered — probably because the Germans had not much time in which to lay them.

The tanks paid no attention to Haut Mesnil — it was an infantry assignment — and the tank commander set up his attack on Breteville le Rabot.

While the Breteville attack was going on, western Canada tanks and some Ontario infantry sped to the left around the town and across the road south of Grainville Langenerie to point 195.

Breteville fell into our hands at 8:30 a.m. Wednesday.

Commons Renews Charters of Banks For 10 More Years

OTTAWA (CP) — The Commons Wednesday night gave third reading by a vote of 84 to 6 to the bill renewing the charters of Canadian banks for another 10 years.

The vote was recorded at the request of M. J. Coldwell, C.C.F. leader, whose party favors nationalization of the banks, and J. H. Blackmore, Social Credit House leader, who argued the feasibility of creating debt-free money and the need for other monetary reforms.

Progressive Conservative members and A. W. Neil, Ind., Comox-Alberni, voted with the government.

Those who voted against the bill were Mr. Coldwell, Mr. Blackmore, Stanley H. Knowles, C.C.F., Winnipeg North Centre; G. H. Castleden, C.C.F., Yorkton, Sask.; J. W. Burton, C.C.F., Humboldt, Sask., and William Bryce, Selkirk, Man.

The vote came shortly after the House had defeated an amendment in which G. O. McGeer, K.C., L., Vancouver-Burrard, urged that banks be prohibited from issuing bank credits as a substitute for currency, unless authorized to make such issues by a board of three, the Prime Minister, the Minister of Finance and the governor of the Bank of Canada.

Following defeat of the amendment Mr. McGeer and Arthur Slaght, K.C., L., Parry Sound, Ont., abandoned attempts to convince the House of the need for money reforms.

They had argued the need for such reforms during the examination of the 165-clause bill in the House and at more than 60 meetings of the Commons committee on banking and commerce.

Once the bank bill was passed,

Story Says Bulgaria Seeks Peace Terms

ANKARA (AP) — Unconfirmed reports circulated here that Bulgaria has asked the Allies for peace terms through the medium of the Turkish government.

The reports were given some color when Dr. Floyd Henson Black, for 18 years president of the American College in Bulgaria and now president of the American College in Istanbul, left Istanbul hurriedly for Ankara.

The House quickly gave third reading to a bill aimed at encouraging banks to provide intermediate and short term loans to farmers for the improvement and development of farms.

Debate on second reading of the government's bill aimed at promoting the building of new homes and the clearance of slum areas followed. Under the bill, $275,000 would be made available in loans for the construction of new homes, for the improvement of existing homes and for the removal of slums.

Canadian Corvettes Find Invasion Duty Exciting Diversion

Written for the Canadian Press by Sub-Lt. Scott Young
WITH THE R.C.N. IN EUROPEAN WATERS (CP) — More than a dozen Canadian corvettes which traded punch for punch with German submarines and crushing weather on the North Atlantic for four years have been given their chance to be in on the kill. They are on Channel convoy duty now, escorting men-and-supplies to the coast of Normandy in a hectic type of war that makes the monotony of the North Atlantic seem like a bad dream, soon forgotten.

Some of them went years on the Atlantic without seeing a submarine — years of constant preparation for action, but no action. Atlantic weather made it even worse.

BUZZING ABOUT
But this part of the war is different. This is being written in the chartroom of a veteran Canadian corvette, the Mayflower, while we buzz up and down the lines of a convoy we are helping take back to England from Normandy.

In the last week this ship's men have had flying bombs crash about them and shot down near them, naval engagements going on in plain sight, at night, they've been under spectacular air attack several times. This, they have concluded, is really some war, after all.

One morning something big, black and ominous drifted by us on the port side. In the intense blackout it looked like a mine, but we couldn't be sure. The officer of the watch, Lieut. Curly Vaughn of Edmonton, watched it out of sight astern.

The Mayflower is part of the strong Canadian corvette force meeting conditions like this almost every day, as part of the normal duties. The constant presence of danger has the Canadian crews taking an almost tourist-like interest in the war. Sea watches of four hours on and four off don't leave much time for leisure, but almost always there is an interested audience of sleepless, off-watch ratings whenever anything big is going on.

Duncan City Council

DUNCAN — City Council will try to establish an alternative route to the swimming pool in the Cowichan River, but will not accept responsibility for accidents to pedestrians who are now using the railway tracks.

This was the outcome of a letter received by the council Tuesday from the E. and N. Railway asking council's co-operation in the matter.

Council joined the Aeronautical Institute of Canada promoting the establishment of small town air fields.

On the request of W. P. Fance, it was decided to make a grant of $25 for the purchase of a challenge trophy for the baseball league.

The written report of the Streets Committee on the completion of their surfacing program was accepted.

On the recommendation of the fire wardens it was decided to send the fire chief and one other fireman to the annual fire chiefs convention at Nelson.

The Sale of Lands By-law was passed, and one on early closing on Saturdays for butchers was given three readings. The butchers wish to close at 6 p.m.

Final resolution was passed on the question of Indian Reserve lands. The Indian Department will be asked to grant assurances that the city will be given the first refusal in the event of any proposed sale or lease of any Indian land north of the Cowichan River and south of the city limits.

Accounts totaling $6,063.46 were passed for payment.

New Super-Corvette Huntsville in Service

WEST OF SCOTLAND SHIPYARD—Lieut. "Tiny" Herman, Ottawa Rough Riders famous rugby star, stood on the quarter-deck of a ship at this shipyard, surrounded by his officers and men. With him was Capt. Eustace Brock, commanding officer of H.M.C.S. Niobe and the Niobe band. Promptly on the half hour Lieut. Herman faced the bridge and said: "I now commission thee H.M.C.S. Huntsville." As the white ensign was slowly unfurled from the staff the band played God Save the King. A new ship had been added to Canada's navy.

H.M.C.S. Huntsville is castle class corvette, one of the new super corvettes that Canada has been adding to her fleet this year. She is considerably larger than the standard type of corvette, and is armed with the newest weapons known to naval warfare.

From stem to stern Huntsville is designed to give the crew the greatest amount of comfort possible without impairing her fighting ability. The messdecks are roomy, well lit and beautifully furnished. The galley would bring a look of joy to any cook's eyes. The wardroom, with its mantelpiece and electric fireplace, is a reasonable facsimile of home. The wireless cabin is the pride of the communication mess.

Jehovah's Witnesses Convene in Winnipeg

WINNIPEG (CP)—More than 2,000 members of the Jehovah's Witnesses sect, representing Ontario, Manitoba, Saskatchewan and eastern United States districts met here Wednesday in the first public assembly since the organization was banned by the Dominion Government in July, 1940. The ban was lifted last October.

WINNIPEG (CP)—A violent thunderstorm accompanied by winds of near-hurricane proportions, which swept through parts of Saskatchewan and Manitoba, struck Winnipeg early today, leaving a trail of destruction throughout the city and surrounding districts.

During the height of the storm the government meteorological station at Stevenson Airfield clocked the wind at 71 miles an hour and T.C.A. planes from both east and west were as much as 17 hours late.

The storm moved east from Regina in a 200-mile belt, disrupting communications and causing extensive damage. Reports it had reached cyclone proportions at Kamsack, Sask., and Dauphin, Man., were not confirmed, but telephone communications with both places was still out early today.

The R.C.A.F. at Rivers, Man., reported a 41-m.p.h. wind and some wind damage to the airport from rain and hail.

Earlier Wednesday a heavy rain and wind storm swept northwestern Ontario and the lakehead district, flooding roads, washing out bridges and flattening crops. No casualties have been reported from either storm.

City, chairman of the assembly, denied Jehovah's Witnesses had ever opposed Canada's war effort, and said the attitude of the organization had been misrepresented. The organization left the matter of conscientious objection to the individual members.

The Winnipeg convention is one of 18 being held simultaneously in 16 United States and two Canadian cities.

World Leaders Pay Tribute to Mr. King On 25th Anniversary

Canada's Prime Minister spent the morning of his 25th anniversary Monday as leader of the Liberal party showing his sister, Mrs. Lay, of Barrie, Ont., the Parliament Buildings in Ottawa. He received messages of congratulations from Prime Minister Churchill and President Roosevelt among others.

A bachelor, the Prime Minister's most constant companion is his dog, "Pat," successor to another "Pat" who is now dead. A statuette of the original "Pat" was presented Mr. King at the celebration at a banquet in the Chateau Laurier.

Bracken, Coldwell Discuss Elections

OTTAWA (CP)—John Bracken, National Progressive Conservative leader, said in a prepared statement that the results of the provincial elections in Quebec and Alberta were "most significant."

In Quebec the campaign was fought on federal issues and the Liberal government was defeated," he said. "The pivot of the federal Prime Minister's strength for the last 25 years has therefore vanished. After similar defeats in Ontario and Saskatchewan it is increasingly clear the present federal government will be overwhelmingly defeated when next it appeals to the people."

M. J. Coldwell, C.C.F. leader, said the results of the elections in Quebec and Alberta "are not discouraging."

"We made a start in Quebec, won one seat, and found some support for future activity," he said.

"In Alberta, we were faced with an unusual situation; the daily press, which four years ago united the Liberals and Conservatives into the so-called Independent Party; the Social Credit Party and the old Communist Party; under its new name, Labor-Progressive Party, all combined to stop the C.C.F. Stalin Urges Pact On Peace With Pope

LONDON (AP)—The News Chronicle said Marshal Stalin had submitted to the Vatican "a document which amounts to nothing less than a proposal for co-ordination action between Moscow and the Vatican for the post-war solution of moral and social problems" which are likely to have immediate effects in liberated Poland.

The article said that Stalin through his ambassador to Rome suggested to the Pope an exchange of views to facilitate any action at the peace conference.

"Stalin assures the Pope," the article said, "that Russia not only does not seek anywhere to change the existing social order."

THAT SUBMARINE BAG

ALTHOUGH THE JOINT STATEMENT from Mr. Churchill and Mr. Roosevelt on the success which has attended operations against Nazi submarines is a revealing and warming one, we are warned that the U-boat fleet "is still of impressive size." Hitler's loss of 500 of these "rattlesnakes" of the seas since the beginning of the war, however, bears witness to the magnificent work of British and Canadian navies and air forces prior to the assistance from United States craft and, in joint operations, since Pearl Harbor. It must have taken the heart out of the Fuehrer when he realized how relatively impotent this underwater weapon turned out to be when the forces of liberation were engaged in the hazardous task of punching holes in his "impenetrable" Atlantic wall. It is also interesting to note in the joint statement that Nazi claims of sinkings for the fateful invasion month of June were exaggerated 1000 per cent!

It is small comfort for German submarine crews either resting or in training to be told that their comrades are still performing miracles under the sea—when returning marauders pour into their ears graphic explanations of the manner in which the Allied hawks and aerial patrols pound them from the moment they leave their lairs until they again reach safe haven. Exaggeration to the tune of 1000 per cent, moreover, is a foolish and woefully unsatisfactory exercise for the warped mind of Grand Admiral Karl Doenitz—the alleged naval wizard who had spent a lifetime in study of submarine construction and when the Nazi oligarchy expected to strike the fatal blows at the Allied life lines. So, as the unrestricted submarine warfare which Admiral Tirpitz began in the early part of 1917 was eventually mastered, so have his cocksure successors of this war found their match in the brilliant achievements of those at whose efforts they once were wont to laugh.

'WHAT A PARTY'

EVEN THE FINANCIAL POST IS BEGINNING to have doubts about Mr. Bracken. "It is now 19 months," it says, "since Mr. Bracken was chosen to lead a reorganized Conservative party and yet there remains in the public mind considerable confusion as to exactly what the party offers. There is also a feeling, confirmed by the party split on family allowances, that active members of the party are not in agreement on certain fundamental issues. It is true, Mr. Bracken came out finally for conscription, but he has remained silent or has spoken only in generalities on other matters of vital importance." It is pointed out that with a general election possibly less than six months away, Mr. Bracken has done nothing to indicate what position the Progressive Conservative party proposes to take, whether it will be to the right or left of Mr. King. Mr. Bracken is again touring the country, will be in Victoria in a few days, yet on this speaking trip he continues to be indefinite. Small wonder even Tory Toronto is showing signs of exasperation, along with indications, as openly expressed in the Conservative Globe and Mail and the Conservative Telegram, that thoughts of a palace coup against the leader are not absent from the minds of the party generals—or the Toronto "clique."

The fact is that Tory Toronto realizes that the high hopes of Port Hope and Winnipeg are not being fulfilled and that the party must have something definite to offer and must stand clearly and unequivocally for something, or appear quite futile before the country. "What a party!" as one Ontario newspaper exclaimed the other day. That sentiment is becoming general—even within the party.

FOR BETTER RURAL LIFE

A CO-OPERATIVE SURVEY WITH THE general purpose of making country life in Canada more attractive is under way in Middlesex County, Ontario. It is being carried on under the local branch of the Federation of Agriculture, the University of Western Ontario, the Provincial Department of Agriculture and the Middlesex Library Association. The proposal is to develop in the rural areas some of the advantages of urban communal life through the creation of rural community centres, promoting adult education, and cultural and recreational activities.

This suggests a field which might with advantage be explored in British Columbia as a measure of postwar rehabilitation. As in Ontario, we need to make rural life out here more attractive if we are to effect any large scale and permanent development of veterans in the country areas, as we plan to do. Because of the proportion of young men of low physical rating discovered in examinations for military service, the federal government has announced a program to develop physical fitness. However, so far plans for this program seem to be confined to the large centres of population. Major Eisenhardt, national director of the plan, has recognized the need of extending it to the rural parts. Records of physical examinations for the forces show that physical training is needed in the rural parts as much as in the cities.

There is every reason why we should at this time interest ourselves more in the welfare of our rural areas. It would be a great mistake from both an economic and social point of view if, during the period of movement of population and resettlement after the war, we should allow conditions to be conducive to the herding of more and more of our population in the cities, as was the case in the years of peace. Under the leadership in vocational, cultural and health training envisaged in the Middlesex plan, people in the rural areas could be trained how to work and how to live to get the most out of life. Rural community centres developed around agricultural high schools, technical training schools, libraries and other cultural institutions, could become meeting places for both old and young in the communities.

For the stable and independent elements that give the population of a nation its character, we look to the country districts. We should not overlook them now in our planning for that happier and healthier world that should be after the war.

VON PAPEN TO GET HIS?

UNTIL FURTHER INFORMATION IS available, the outside world will treat with some reserve the report that Franz von Papen was arrested on his return to Germany from Turkey, where his services as Nazi ambassador terminated when the Ankara government severed economic and diplomatic relations with the Reich last week. Such action on the part of the Fuehrer, however, would be in keeping with the traditional manner of his treatment of those who fail to obtain what he wants.

Von Papen's mission in the Turkish capital ever since he was assigned to his ambassadorial post was to persuade the men-in-control of the Levantine republic either to join the Axis in a military sense or remain neutral with sufficient benevolence to be of useful service to Hitler and his gang. He succeeded only in the negotiation of such economic agreements as were considered essential to the maintenance of Turkey's economy—largely in the exchange of certain raw materials for manufactured products unavailable elsewhere under war conditions. In view of the Ankara government's commitments to Britain under the provision of the treaty of alliance into which the two countries entered in 1939, however, British acquiescence preceded the signature of these agreements. It was only when shipments of chrome were actually aiding the enemy in an important material sense that Turkey, under pressure from both Britain and the United States, ceased even this trading with the Reich.

Not only was this action the last straw as far as Hitler's reliance on von Papen's intercession was concerned; Ankara's breach of all relations with Berlin ended the anomalous position in which Turkey found herself. The Nazi ambassador—with his long record of unsuccessful intrigue against him—had failed to produce the diplomatic goods. Such failure is no recommendation for clemency from a Gestapo-dominated hierarchy.

ON TO PARIS

NOT SO MANY YEARS AGO THOUSANDS of Americans and Canadians, too, of course, used to dream and plan to visit the gay capital of France. It was almost a case of see Paris and die happy. And it may not be so very long to the time when railroad, steamship, airliner and hotel tariffs are again studied by the traveler Europe bound. This is not to argue that the rest of the Battle of France will be over in a few weeks; but the removal of General Eisenhower's headquarters from Britain to the continental European side of the English Channel has underscored the daily reports of new advances by Canadian, British and American forces in Normandy and Brittany. It has imparted new confidence in early victory.

Latest advices from the French battlefronts furnish impressive evidence that the fighting now has reached the expanding stage for which General Montgomery had planned his strategy. The stubborn Nazi resistance with which troops and armor of the United Kingdom and Canada have had to contend in the general Caen sector since their initial landings no doubt was expected; but the fact seems clear that the enemy's failure to dislodge the invaders was a big contributing factor to the magnificent successes scored by General Bradley's valiant Americans in their campaign for the Cherbourg Peninsula—and since. What is about to begin now, therefore, is the war of movement for which "Monty" has prepared with his traditionally meticulous thoroughness. All he needed was more room in which to employ his adequate physical and material resources. He has set the stage. So the next big stop is Paris!

WHAT A LEGACY!

RIGHT IN THE MIDST OF A MODERately warm spell came news that a Russian professor is planning a sort of "deep freeze" museum for posterity. He proposes to bury the bodies of men and animals in the preserving, perpetually frozen earth of the Siberian north, together with furniture, utensils, the works of great contemporary authors, and historical documents of our time.

Will our proud inventions be obsolete curiosities and our history one of meaningless bloodshed? Or will this war—or, heaven forbid, wars to come—so deplete and degrade mankind that those descendants will have returned to a savage state from which they look upon our remnants in uncomprehending wonder? Perhaps it is not taking too long a view to say that we shall start answering those questions in the peace we make after this war, and the way we keep that peace in the future.

Dreaming, self-pitying kids say: "They'll be sorry when I'm dead." If they get the habit, they still play martyr to get their own way when they're fifty.

Mr. King In His Study

By I. Norman Smith of the Ottawa Journal
ABOUT BOOKS AND READING.

ALMOST entirely surrounded by books, as we were in his attic at Laurier House, Ottawa, it seemed appropriate to ask Mr. Mackenzie King about his taste in reading.

"Goodness," the Prime Minister replied, "during these war years the greatest part of my reading is devoted to official dispatches, monographs, private reports and memoranda of all manner of things arising out of the war. The amount of dispatches is enormous.

"However, I do have to get away from it all once in a while and then I fall back on my old favorite—good biographies and histories. I have not got the detective story habit—and I don't say that slightly—but to correspond to that I read an odd miscellany of stuff. Letters, bits on art or science, glimpses into olden times.

"I find I keep several—indeed many—books running at the same time. But I'm afraid I don't read many books right through nowadays. There is so little time. One can only look through and find out the chapters or passages that give interest. Yet a great number of books come to me and somehow I try to keep abreast."

HISTORY AS A SIGNPOST

MR. KING spoke at some length on the value of reading histories. In these days of a changing world he finds so many things happening that recall his college days and the books he had read then and since. He didn't actually say "history repeats" but he seemed to be thinking it, and to be thinking that history is the signpost and not merely the record.

I asked what reading he would recommend on Canadian history and the reply was immediate:

"Oh, Francis Parkman. No country has ever been more fortunate than has Canada in having Parkman to record her story. Parkman, you know, did much of his writing in the Parliamentary Library. We really should have a monument to Parkman, and I hope we will. You can read all kinds of books on Canada, but Parkman should be the foundation. His style is so fine, and he has heart and inspiration."

"There are other good ones, of course; and many of the new books are stimulating in the new approach they make to our Canadian problems, the new lights they throw on our picture. I do think strongly that we should all read our history. After all, it is a romance. Nowhere do you find a country's history so compact of progress. We start as a dependency and we finish a nation; and all in so short a time. We begin with Indians and voyageurs and then bring in the peoples of Europe and make of them all a Canadian nationality. In the brief span there is the social progress and the evolution of government, the opening of a country and the attainment of maturity. The history of Canada is perhaps the best illustration of the evolution of government that is to be found. The Debates on Confederation themselves make fascinating reading.

"But of course your reading mustn't end with Canada. We know now how international this world is; how much one country is dependent upon another. The study of international relations is a challenge to us all, and particularly is it a challenge to us Canadians, who stand between the United States and Britain and have so important a role in contributing to understanding."

'THE SWEEP OF HISTORY'

THE PRIME MINISTER mentioned a few more of his favorites among Canadian writers, but understandably asked me to refrain from mentioning their names, and then added, about reading in general:

"There is so much to be got from reading," he went on. "But there is so much being written today that we ought to read only the best. I think now of the endless time I spent as a college youth going through labor records and minutes of old meetings to write a thesis of some sort. I wonder, now, whether it wouldn't have been time better spent if I had been reading the great works and getting the sweep of history."

"I think young men ought to spend their time on better literature and on the thoughts and policies of the world's great men, at least until their own minds take shape and they begin to be able to hold their own opinions. It is better that they know of the great achievements of others; this way they see themselves in proportion. The public man who broadens his horizon in all things is the man who will give the most good to the public."

MARKS THEM UP A LOT

MR. KING was standing by my chair, pouring me a drink of lemonade. As he turned to go to his own chair—a hard straight one with a leather seat and wooden back—he noticed on a side table a book "Portrait and Pageant" by Frank Salisbury.

"Here's a case," he said, "of how reading develops. This is a new book by the portrait painter who did the Coronation and many other great works. When I was in London I met him and we became great friends. The last time he was here he stayed with me and we corresponded quite frequently. Now he has written a book—see, he has inscribed it to me—and I am enjoying it very much."

As the Prime Minister turned the pages I noted a number of marginal markings and notations and passed some remark about them. "Oh, yes," he said, "I mark up my books quite a lot. Then when I pick them up again, as I so often do, I can easily skip through the passages that I know interest me."

He mentioned a number of other books sent him by authors whom he knew and told of their visits to him, and of the visits of some of the leading figures in the theatre, in music and the arts.

The War Today

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

Associated Press War Analyst
I have before me a letter from a reader hotly advocating the "total extermination" of Germany's population as the only way to ensure peace.

That represents an extreme (though not rare) view, and one which I'm sure my correspondent wouldn't back up on a showdown. However, I've yet to encounter anybody who ventured an opinion at all who didn't say he hoped the Allied armies would fight their way through the Reich so the German people would get overwhelming punishment.

TO END AGGRESSION

That's an argument we needn't try to settle here. Probably all agree that heavy retribution is just, and necessary to prevent repetition of aggression, and in this connection I call attention to the fact that the Fatherland just now is entering a period of chastening which will be hell.

The next few weeks are going to be among the most crucial of the war for Germany. It is a period which will give the Germans the worst punishment they have endured in modern history. They will be undergoing both the strain of their dictator's awful regimentation for total war, and the despair of defeats and retreats.

Thus both military and civilians are about to be put through a fierce test of morale. The Nazis will be lucky if they don't crack up.

The defeats the Germans are suffering now are far worse than anything encountered in the first Great War. Their casualties in the previous conflict were 7,142,558, and already the present conflagration has claimed an estimated 9,000,000.

Talk about annihilating the Germans. The young men who would sire the future generations are being sacrificed by Hitler at a fearful rate in a mad effort to delay the surrender which must come.

Germany is learning in a big way that aggression doesn't pay. Every hour from now on will be working for the Allies, driving home the lesson. Will that be enough? The consensus is that it won't fill the bill. Germany must pay heavy fines, suffer imprisonments and perhaps in extreme cases she must endure executions for war crimes. Beyond that she must be rendered wholly impotent to prepare for another war.

Those disturbers of the peace. They can't listen to anybody talk without drumming out a tattoo on the chair arm with their nervous fingers. Maybe they're people who drink tea or coffee when they shouldn't. Maybe caffeine is affecting their nerves.

People should find out what causes nervousness or sleeplessness. Very often it's as simple a thing as tea or coffee. Tea and coffee make many people nervous, even though others can drink them without ill effect.

If tea or coffee affects you—switch to POSTUM. It is caffeine-free, stimulant-free. It can't set your nerves on edge.

Weddings

BARTON—SMALLWOOD

The marriage took place Monday in First United Church of Dulce Elizabeth, only daughter of Mrs. L. Smallwood and the late Arthur E. Smallwood, and grand daughter of Mrs. Brian and the late John R. Bunn, and Gmr. William Harold Barton, only son of Mrs. Paul Micheien and the late Capt. William Barton.

Rev. W. G. Wilson, D.D., officiated. They were attended by the groom's sister, Mrs. Joan E. Phillips, and Gmr. Melvin Brundridge.

ALLISON—WEBSTER

White brocaded satin on princess lines with long lily point sleeves fashioned the gown chosen by Helen Victoria, younger daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Webster, 474 Garbally Road, for her marriage in First United Church Wednesday evening to Ldg. Supply Asst. Roy Allison, R.C.N.V.R., only son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Allison, Vancouver.

A Mary Queen of Scots head-dress held the bride's full-length veil and she carried a shower bouquet of red roses and white carnations. Mr. Webster gave his daughter away. Similar floor length frocks of pale pink sheer were worn by Mrs. C. Summerville, sister of the bride, Mrs. R. Taylor and the little flower girl, Marie McKenzie. The senior attendants wore matching half hats with clusters of flowers and carried arm bouquets of pink carnations and mauve sweet peas. A spray of pink flowers was in the flower girl's hair and she carried a Colonial posy of pink and mauve sweet peas.

Jack Syme was groomsmen and ushers were Dick Johnston and Harry Carter. Rev. W. G. Wilson, D.D., performed the ceremony, and George Peaker played the wedding music. Mrs. Roy Taylor, cousin of the groom, sang "Because," while the bridal party was in the vestry.

Toast to the bride was proposed by J. Dirom. Among the many wedding gifts was a pair of bedroom lamps presented to the bride from her fellow employees at the Naval Dockyard.

Mr. and Mrs. Allison left for a honeymoon in Vancouver, the bride wearing a printed jersey silk frock, blue topcoat with a wolf collar and navy blue accessories.

Former Inez Empey Serving at Canadian Hospital in England

By MARGARET ECKER

AT A CANADIAN GENERAL HOSPITAL IN BRITAIN (CP)—For a Canadian nursing sister serving overseas who is married her wartime adventure is a lot of hard work and long hours.

Because she is married—these girls married after arrival in England—regulations bar her from the excitement of service on the continent.

One of these sisters is Inez Williams, the former Inez Empey of Victoria, serving with No. 20 Canadian General Hospital. She was arranging a ward to accommodate twice as many patients as it had formerly and admitted she didn't have much time to worry about her engineering husband, Maj. John Williams of Clamby, Ont.

She told me of a few weeks she had put in working in the Canadian Plastic and Neurological Hospital in southern England, to which many of the most seriously injured go.

"We worked 14 hours a day down there," she said. "But I wouldn't have minded working 24 hours a day. Most of those boys had lost at least an arm or a leg, many were completely paralyzed. But none of them complained."

Maj. Agnes Tennant of Montreal, matron of No. 20 Canadian General Hospital, commented one day:

"The married sisters are the backbone of this hospital. The rest of us come and go, they stay and carry on when everything is confusion."

A few weeks later, as a patient at the same hospital I had a close-up of what the matron meant. The hospital had been equipped to accommodate 1,200 patients. Convoys of wounded started to roll in and the word came that there were so many ambulances on their way from the seaports to this inland hos-

DOING A BIG JOB—WELL

Dorothy Dix

YOUNGSTER WANTS TO DATE

Dear Dorothy Dix—We have a daughter who will be 14 next month, who is begging to be allowed to go out with a boy friend of 17. Her father is very definite in refusing to let her do so and she has nearly driven him to drink with her importunities. She is a good kid and just wants the fun all the teen-age girls do and that all of her friends are having. She accuses us constantly of being the most hard parents in the world and has even threatened to leave home. What is the solution of our problem?

TROUBLED PARENTS.

Answer: It is impossible to keep your child from doing what all of her schoolmates and friends are doing. She has to live in her age and follow the customs of the tribe. So the best you can do is to tone her down as much as you can. Let her go with the boy friend one or two nights a week, but make 11 o'clock the curfew, except when a big party is on.

Of course, 14 is too young to have all the privileges of grown-ups, but we have speeded up age as we have everything else and a girl of 14 is as sophisticated now as you were at 18.

Dear Dorothy Dix—Should a girl marry for love or security?

THE GROUP.

Answer: Both. No marriage is a success that isn't founded on love, backed by security.

Picnic Menus To Furnish Your Food Requirements

Picnics are an easy way to entertain, and it's a lot of fun to be able to produce a delicious lay-out of food.

Following menu is planned for outdoors. Tasty, as well as nutritious, it will furnish approximately one-third of the day's food requirements. Put the food and necessary utensils on a log and let everyone serve themselves. (Recipes given for starred items.)

*Stuffed Meat Loaf.
Roasting Pan of Scalloped Potatoes.

*Green Vitamin Salad.
*Fruit Pie.

*Meat Loaf—Serves 6 to 8.

1½ lbs. ground beef, 1 egg (beaten), 1½ cups milk, 1½ tsp. salt, ¼ tsp. pepper, ½ cup diced celery, 2 tbsp. minced onion, ¼ cup diced green pepper or relish, 1½ cups soft bread crumbs, 4 tbsp. bacon dripping or other fat, ½ cup tomato juice.

Combine meat, egg and milk with 1 teaspoon salt and ¼ teaspoon pepper. Cover bottom of buttered loaf pan with half the meat mixture, making a hollow in centre. Make stuffing by combining celery, minced onion, chopped pepper, bread crumbs, ½ teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon pepper, and melted fat. Fill hollow of meat with loosely-packed stuffing. Top with remaining meat mixture. Bake in a moderate oven, 350 degrees, for one hour. Baste twice with tomato juice to keep loaf moist.

Vitamin Salad
Wash, prepare and chill, using all, or a selection, of the following: Diced cucumber, shredded cabbage, rings of green pepper, sliced radishes, wedges of tomato, and 1 or 2 chopped nasturtium leaves. Mix ingredients in a bowl and mix with the following carrot dressing just before serving.

*Carrot Dressing—Mix ½ cup boiled-salad dressing, ½ teaspoon minced onion and ¼ cup grated carrot.

*Fruit Pie
Green apple pie is always a favorite. Made as follows with whole wheat pie paste it has a deliciously nutty flavor.

*Pie Paste—1½ cups once-sifted white flour, 1½ teaspoons salt, 1½ cups wholewheat (or graham) flour, 1 cup chilled shortening, ice-cold water.

(1) Measure once-sifted white flour and sift again with the salt. (2) Add wholewheat flour, and mix it in with a fork. (3) With chilled fingertips, break the shortening through the dry mixture, reducing it to pieces the size of a small pea. Gradually add ice-cold water, using just enough to make a paste which, when lightly mixed, may be cleaned easily from the bowl.

*To Make the Pie—(1) Line an 8½-in. pie pan with rolled-out pastry. (2) Mix 2 tbsp. flour and 2 tbsp. sugar and sprinkle half of it on top of pastry. (3) Fill with 3 cups sliced peeled apples, mounding well in centre. (4) Drizzle with ½ cup liquid honey or ½ cup corn syrup. (5) Sprinkle remaining sugar and flour over top and dot with 1 tsp. butter if available. (6) Dampen rim of pie and cover with rolled-out paste in which slits have been cut to allow steam to escape. (7) Seal, trim and crimp the edge. (8) Bake 12 minutes in a hot oven 450 degrees, then lower heat to about 375 degrees and bake 35 minutes longer.

*Summer Cooler—Serves 8.
Mix the juice of 2 lemons and 3 oranges with ¼ cup sugar. Carry to the picnic in a small bottle. Put 2 tsp. of this mixture in each glass or cup and fill with cold dry ginger ale.

Parents Blamed

"Are These Our Parents?" the Monogram child delinquency drama which opens an engagement at the Oak Bay and Plaza Theatres today, presents in colorful fashion a picture of a present-day trend in American life which is nothing less than startling. The story, in all its details, demonstrates that the parents are responsible for much of the waywardness of the younger generation, and that delinquency begins at home.

Helen Vinson is starred, and heads a cast which is uniformly excellent, including Lyle Talbot, Ivan Lebedeff, Noel Neill, Richard Byron, Emma Dunn, Addison Richards, Anthony Warde and many other competent players. William Nigh, as director and Jeffrey Bernard, as producer, have combined their talents to film an entertaining picture which presents a problem and a means of its solution.

Music Appreciation

Music appreciation studies will count for extra credits in Oak Bay schools next term. It was learned from Trustee Mrs. H. A. Beckwith. It will be the first time that such studies have been included in the curriculum of schools of the municipality. Ernest Willoughby, choirmaster at Christ Church Cathedral, will act as music instructor in Oak Bay schools.

Labelling of Jam Explained to W.R.A.C.

Informative labelling on jam tins, to protect consumers from inferior quality, was explained in a letter from Consumer Branch, Wartime Prices and Trade Board, read at a meeting of the Women's Regional Advisory Committee, Wednesday. Mrs. Paul Smith presided.

Labels will state whether the jam is grade one pure jam, containing 52 per cent strawberries, or 45 per cent other fruits; grade two-pectin jam with 32 per cent strawberries, or 27 per cent other fruits; grade three compound jam, containing 15 per cent strawberries, or 12½ per cent other fruits. Mrs. W. E. Rayfuse, manager, National Housing Registry, reported 758 persons were placed in accommodation during the month; 514 family applications have been received, and 375 units listed to rent.

The forming of a new National Housing Registry Branch at Courtenay was announced by Mrs. Rayfuse, who said 75 people have already received accommodation through the branch. She stated work was voluntary under the direction of Miss Audrey McLeod, and headquarters were in the Red Triangle Hut. A complete survey of available housing was being made, Mrs. Rayfuse said, by dividing the city into zones.

Individualists Form Group in City To Check Collectivism

EDWARD J. DAVIS

The Association of Canadian Individualists, growing organization now established in Vancouver and other parts of Canada with the objective of combatting the growing towards collectivism, will be introduced to Victoria Friday at a public meeting in the boardroom of Pemberton and Son Ltd. at 7:45 o'clock.

Edward J. Davis, Vancouver business executive and honorary treasurer of the mainland group, here to assist organization, today told The Times the underlying principles behind the movement.

"It started spontaneously in London, England, about two years ago," Mr. Davis said. "There a group of individualists from varying walks of life organized to present a workable theory which they believed would preserve what is good in the present order and enhance the dignity of the individual while it solved the present economic problem of distribution."

"We in the Canadian groups have accepted those broad ideas, although the movement is fluid. We are interested in preserving democratic Anglo-Saxon parliamentary institutions, free markets and free economy in contrast to the tendency towards regimentation and subordination to an all-powerful state in which man loses his individuality."

"Only in this manner can the people have the heritage of common and statutory law which is far superior to any dictatorship or government by a transitory majority."

NEED FREE ECONOMY

"Only through a free economy can people take advantage of technological improvements which should be for the betterment of humanity generally. In equating production to consumption it is necessary to distribute through a low price system which can best be brought about through competition. Today it is not sufficient to care for distribution through dividends, salaries and wages alone. Such media reach only a certain part of the population. Through institution of a low price system, which is the natural outcome of competitive endeavor, the fruits of production are made available to a much wider circle."

"The individualists are definitely anti-cartel," Mr. Davis explained. They oppose too monopolies when the monopoly encroaches on the rights of the individual. "That does not mean, Mr. Davis added, that this group opposes monopolies on principle. Certain of them are valuable in such fields as transportation, communications and hydro power."

The movement, while based to some degree on certain features of the existing order known in democracies, does not support in its entirety the status quo.

Teaching Positions Now Being Filled

Teaching positions in British Columbia are being gradually filled, but it is yet too early to forecast how many schools will be unable to open next month because of lack of teachers, the Department of Education said today.

Time is arriving when teachers must accept positions for the next year and stop shopping around, looking for the best opportunity, as they have been doing in the last six weeks, officials of the department said.

The isolated, up-country schools are the ones that will have to be closed, for teachers, as much as possible, prefer to live in the larger centres of population.

Daily newspapers are still running long lists of "teachers wanted" advertisements.

Half a cantaloupe melon will afford a day's supply of vitamin C—a good point to remember when citrus fruit is scarce.

City School Board Frowns On Plan To Pay Trustees

Victoria's School Board is not in favor of legislation permitting payment of trustees on scales similar to those allowed city or municipal councils.

At its Wednesday night meeting the board declined endorsement of a motion resolution seeking amendment of the Manual of School Law to permit such indemnities.

"If there were some compensation paid, you would probably get more and more capable applications for school trustees," said Trustee W. A. Bayliss.

Trustee Isla Tuck said trustee candidates indicated a more civically-minded trend among the population with those seeking office only from a desire to serve. An indemnity, she thought, would bring out undesirable elements.

Trustee Bertha Parsons said the amount the aldermen received was not a salary. She championed the service ideal.

Trustee Tuck's motion recording the board against the indemnity scheme carried.

The School Board Employees' Association will be given a copy of the City Council letter informing the board the 10 per cent salary increase gives certain city departments covers outside board employees, but not trustees, who operate on a salary schedule.

Northern Electric Co. Ltd. was awarded contracts to install new lighting fixtures at Oaklands at a cost of $882.39 and Victoria College at a cost of $2,210.46. Trustee Bayliss reported he had received complaints from electrical contractors over acceptance of bids from the Northern Electric on the grounds the firm was a wholesale house. He contended the objection carried no weight since the firm employed sub-contractors to do the work.

W. W. Grant was appointed janitor of Beacon Hill School to replace Mrs. M. MacBride, who assumes duties at Spring Ridge pre-primary next month.

Bevan Signs received the contract to supply gold-lettered school name plates at a price of $150.

Victoria schools face no overcrowding, although such conditions may exist in other municipalities, acting chairman Trustee F. G. Mulliner reported in answer to a report congestion threatened in the city institutions.

Miss Bernice Carter, graduate of this year's class in the certificate course in Public Health Nursing, was appointed to the school nursing staff at an initial salary of $1,380, to succeed Miss Estella Herbert, who has retired.

The board received with regret resignations from Miss Rubymay Brown, H. C. Gilliland, Harold P. Johns and Dr. Wm. Robb. The loss to other institutions of the latter three, the education committee noted, was testimony to the quality of the teaching personnel of Victoria schools. "It's a good thing for the province, but very disastrous to the Victoria School Board," Trustee Mulliner remarked.

A portion of Kingston Street School was allocated for use as a baby clinic for the James Bay district.

Wilfred Orchard was appointed on probation to the elementary school staff at $1,800 a year, and Miss Patricia Gwyer and Mrs. Lois Stuart to temporary one-year posts at Victoria High at salaries of $1,900 and $1,500, respectively.

Tribute was paid Victoria High School students on their success in recent University Entrance examinations.

Oak Bay Passes Fire Limits By-law

A by-law to set up fire limits, which include the territory of the exhibition grounds, was passed by Oak Bay Municipal Council Wednesday.

Within the area designated in the by-law all buildings erected must be of fireproof construction, and a penalty up to $200 fine is provided for non-compliance.

It was decided to send delegates to a regional rehabilitation conference to be called by the Vancouver Island Joint Labor Conference about the middle of October. The council requested information as to the definite dates, and Reeve L. W. Woodhouse intimated that engineer A. S. G. Musgrave, one of the councillors and himself would be the delegates.

Attention of council members was called to the fact that the average motorist does not pull to the side of the road and stop when fire engines are passing en route to a fire. Fire Chief E. G. Clayards requested that some publicity be given to the law that requires motorists to do this because he thought that many of them might be unfamiliar with it.

It was decided that the municipality should absorb the full cost of water supply improvements in the Nottingham district and refund any moneys that had been advanced for this purpose by residents of the district.

After considerable discussion about the traffic dangers of the corner at the southwest corner of Bowker and Hampshire, and at the Crescent-King George corner, during which it was brought out that the improvements had first been mooted 12 years ago, it was decided to make the necessary improvements at Bowker and Hampshire. Mr. Musgrave was asked to submit a report and estimates for the other improvements.

The committee for Medical Aid for China was granted permission to hold a tag day on Sept. 30, and the Aid to the Children of France Fund was granted permission to hold one on Aug. 19.

A suggestion from Burnaby that town planning be made compulsory for all municipalities was received and filed, with no action being taken to approve or reject the proposal.

U-Boats Ineffective; 500 Sunk So Far; Claims Exaggerated

LONDON (CP)—More than 500 German submarines have been sunk by the Allies since the start of the war, it was reported Wednesday night in a joint British-U.S. statement.

Issued under authority of Prime Minister Churchill and President Roosevelt, the statement said:

"The number of German U-boats sunk during the war now exceeds 500. It is therefore understandable that the U-boats still operating are extremely cautious. Their efforts have been ineffective during July, a month which has been so important for the success of continental operations."

"The number of U-boats destroyed has been substantially greater than the number of merchant ships sunk. Seventeen U-boats have been sunk while attempting to interfere with our cross-Channel traffic since the first landing of the army of liberation."

"The U-boat fleet is still of impressive size. Nevertheless the U-boats remain the hunted rather than the hunters. They have been attacked from the Arctic to the Indian Ocean, aircraft playing a great part with the surface forces. This pressure will be maintained until all chances of revival of the U-boat campaign are killed, whatever may be the new devices and methods developed by the enemy."

"The Nazi claims of sinkings continue to be grossly exaggerated. For instance, their claim for June, the latest month for which complete figures are available, was an exaggeration of 1,000 per cent."

Blind Enthuse About Life At Sunshine Camp

Although the weather on Tuesday was anything but sunny, the dispositions of 16 blind campers at Sunshine Camp near Sooke were certainly a good advertisement for life at camp. A happier group of people would be hard to find anywhere.

Under the sponsorship of the Canadian Institute of the Blind, this group of blind pensioners has just concluded 10 days of camp life in the 12 attractive little cream and green painted cabins at Sunshine Camp. They came back to the city this afternoon, and a group of children ranging in age from eight to 12 years took their place.

Alderman W. H. Davies, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Crocker, paid a visit to the camp on Tuesday afternoon. Alderman Davies took out ice cream for all the campers, the gift of an anonymous donor, and Mr. and Mrs. Crocker took out a large bag of apples, as well as a goodly-sized bundle of magazines for the guides who help the blind to and from the beach and around the camp.

Miss D. G. Stark, local representative for the C.N.I.B., is in charge of the blind, while Mrs. G. Hughes is in charge of the camp itself. Mrs. N. Culhane is Mrs. Hughes' assistant and was in charge on Tuesday as Mrs. Hughes was in town. Miss Mary Tucker is sports director, assisted by Sheila Beckwith and Joan Challenor. Mrs. G. Anderson acts as cook for the camp, and the blind men and women were certainly enthusiastic about her cooking.

INDEPENDENT

The day for the campers starts at 7.45, when the whistle is blown to get them out of bed. Breakfast is at 8.15 in the lodge hall, and then they all go to their cabins and tidy them. Mrs. Culhane reported that they did an excellent job of keeping their cabins neat, and didn't need any outside assistance at all.

Following this the campers divide into two groups. One group goes for a long walk down to the postoffice, and the others go for shorter walks to nearby points. Lunch is at 12, and then they rest in their cabins from 1 to 3. Usually from 3 to 4 in the afternoon they go down to the beach and either bathe or sit in the new summer house that has been constructed facing the beach. Next year they hope to have a barbecue outdoors and are busy collecting stones along the beach to build it.

At 4 tea is served, usually outdoors on the veranda, although on Tuesday it was served indoors, in front of the blazing fireplace in the main lodge room. Supper is at 5.15 and the evening is spent in various forms of entertainment devised and put on by the campers themselves.

One night was "ladies' night" and the ladies at the camp put on a concert, and so the men had to have a "men's night," too, which was equally enthusiastically received. On another occasion they had a contest to identify things by smell, and one camper reported: "It was so much fun, we laughed until we ached."

They have their own services on Sunday. On Sunday evening each one chose their favorite hymn and one of the men played the organ while they all sang. Mr. J. Pimlott conducted the service.

This is the fifth year they have been at camp and it was celebrated one evening by a birthday party, at which they served a cake with five candles on it.

A favorite amusement for the campers is lawn bowling, and the fact that the clear space between the cabins that is used for the bowls is quite uneven just adds to the fun.

They run their own camp paper, putting out an edition of "Camp Chat" every day, which is going to be typed and circulated among the members after they return to the city. Each day they have a new editor.

Letters to the Editor

WHAT MR. RICKARD SAID
In your issue this evening, when reporting the proceedings of the City Council, you say that a letter was received from me "protesting unnecessary gun practice in the city." This conveys an untruth.

In my letter I said that our gunners, of course, must have practice if our artillery is to be effective in battle against the enemy, but I suggested that similar practice with the same kind of anti-aircraft guns might be obtained in places outside the city, thereby avoiding damage to houses and injury to invalids.

If the only guns available for such practice are those within the city, then we must all of us accept the consequences cheerfully.

OUR BEAUTY SPOTS

I often wonder why our beautiful Mt. Douglas Park is not more visited. It is undoubtedly one of the best localities in or around Victoria for a day's outing.

One can find there everything to make it a beauty spot and recreation ground. We have lovely woods, Mt. Douglas Hill, a playground with swings, sandy beaches, dressing-rooms for bathers, a water tap, restaurant, etc. What more could one desire?

A cheaper bus fare would be an incentive for visitors to go there, as the present fare is the same as to Cordova Bay, farther on.

rationed, isn't it—they're great people for keeping their shoes well shined, aren't they?"
"Oh, Kiwi's a regular habit over there—not only with the British themselves nowadays, either—Canadians, 'Cobblers,' 'Kiwis,' and 'Springboks,' all shine their shoes with Kiwi every day now. They've discovered that Kiwi preserves their shoes under all weather conditions as well as giving them a dazzling shine."
"Yes, Kiwi's a good substitute for coupons in making shoes serviceable longer—I got wise to it in the last war. Well it sure is amazing how they keep up the old morale, over there—grand folks!"
"You bet they are!"
And from Halifax to Vancouver Kiwi's the shoe polish that really "makes the grade" under all the Services prefer it, but those on the Home Front claim it to be "best of all" in Canada.

FOR GROWING CHILDREN

Daily Supply of ALL Five Vitamins Essential

A child's likes and dislikes make it almost impossible to ensure a daily diet complete in essential vitamins and minerals. The modern way to promote natural growth and guard health is to fortify diet with supplementary vitamins. ALL-ONE Vitamin Tablets contain ALL the five vital vitamins. They supply calcium and phosphorus necessary for proper bone and tooth structure—iron for the blood—yeast for the intestinal tract. Just one tablet after breakfast—after dinner EVERY DAY. Easy to take. Only $2.15 for a month's supply (60 tablets). At most drug stores.

dence of malaria to almost nothing.

Dr. Donnelly also made the first report of Canadian Army personnel in action in the south-west Pacific. At Honolulu he met Capt. William E. Watt of Ottawa and Capt. Fred J. Fulton of Kamloops, B.C., who were attached to U.S. forces in the recent action at Saipan.

He said the two officers had told him that Japanese prisoners at Saipan bit, scratched and kicked after they had been taken, refusing to admit defeat.

"Our men don't dare trust them a second, they are so treacherous," he continued. "You can't offer a wounded Jap a glass of water or a bandage for he's liable to pull a gun and shoot you. They have come to the conclusion that the only good and safe Jap is a dead Jap."

Fala Sees Hawaii

HONOLULU (Delayed, AP).—Fala came 2,000 miles aboard the Presidential cruiser to Hawaii, but he got only a glimpse of fabled Waikiki from the deck.

Recently tightened quarantine laws confining canines were not relaxed even for Fala, and President Roosevelt asked no special favors for his five-year-old Scottish.

So Fala lolled aboard, well-behaved and well-loved by officers and crew. A Presidential aide kept a close watch over the Scottish's welfare with daily telephone calls to the ship.

2 Canadians Fought At Saipan, Reports Returned Medico

OTTAWA (CP).—Back from the southwest Pacific war theatre, Dr. Thomas F. Donnelly, Liberal M.P. for Wood Mountain, Sask., said in an interview here Wednesday, that the Allies were definitely winning the medical war in the Pacific. He also said that at least two Canadian officers have seen action in that theatre—at Saipan.

There was evidence that Japanese medical officers were good, but their instructions were being disregarded by the military class and the enemy was dying off in large numbers from disease and even minor wounds.

He said the Australian medical corps was reclaiming between 80 and 85 per cent of casualties for further action.

Battlefront blood plasma treatments and the use of penicillin and other drugs behind the lines were performing curative miracles, he continued. Penicillin had removed the scourge of venereal disease among Australian troops and he was told that cures were 100 per cent, even among patients who had chronic types such as gonorrhea rheumatism. The new drug, atabrine, had cut the incidence of malaria.

All will be taken over by Canada after the war for peacetime air operations.

Navy Pays Tribute To Gallant Cadet, N. Dalby, Courtenay

VANCOUVER (CP).—Thirteen-year-old Ordinary Seaman Noel Dalby of the Royal Canadian Sea Cadets who saved a fellow-cadet, Alwyn Coldwell, 15, of Cumberland, from drowning in the Courtney River, July 1, has been officially commended by Commodore E. R. Brock, C.B.E., R.C. N.V.R., Commanding Officer, Naval Division.

The commendation was read at Whytecliff in the presence of 175 officers and men from the Victoria, Nanaimo and Comox Corps.

The official telegram praised Dalby "for gallant action which was in accordance with the highest traditions of the naval service."

The citation, read by Lieut. R. V. Gillman, Sea Cadet liaison officer in Esquimalt, was as follows: "On July 1, 1944, at about 3.30 in the afternoon, a number of cadets of Comox district Royal Canadian Sea Cadet Corps Port Augusta were swimming in the Courtney River off Simms Wharf.

"Among them was Ordinary Sea Cadet Alwyn Coldwell, 15 years of age, of Cumberland. Suddenly Coldwell, who was well out in the river, found himself in difficulties. Coldwell's struggles were noticed from the shore by O.Smn. Noel Dalby, 13 years of

ONE MORE REASON WHY—

WE CAN'T HAVE ALL THE GAS WE'D LIKE!

CANADA is able to supply only 15% of her own petroleum needs. The balance must come from the common pool of the United Nations. Seventeen gallons of every twenty used by this country must be imported in the form of crude oil from this barely adequate petroleum products pool. Six gallons of every ten must be shipped to us by ocean tanker—at the risk of men's lives, at the risk of precious ships.

Today, with great military campaigns in full swing in Europe, in the Pacific, in Asia—every possible tanker is needed to keep up the pressure of attack by the Allied fighting forces. Every drop of this "fighting" gasoline and fuel oil must be carried vast distances across dangerous seas. Tankers must travel slowly in convoy; they must travel circuitous routes; they must return over thousands of miles of submarine-infested oceans, empty.

Today, war is making insatiable demands upon the crude oil resources and transportation facilities of this hemisphere. Here in Canada we dare not ask for quantities of petroleum beyond our bare, essential needs. We cannot justifiably ask for more than we are using now. This is why gasoline stocks on hand in Canada, as of March 31st, this year, were 55,000,000 gallons less than at the start of rationing on April 1st, 1942.

From Canada's total ration must come all the needs of the Dominion's armed services at home, all the needs of our war industry, of agriculture, and of essential transportation. It is not surprising that little is left for other civilian use—for our motor cars and trucks.

Keep these facts before you at all times. Remind yourself that every gallon we can do without means just that much more for the Allied fighting forces—that it means the release of vital tanker transportation to move Victory gasoline and fuel oil to the battlefronts of the world.

LESS CIVILIAN GAS MEANS MORE "FIGHTING GAS" FOR THE FORCES

NO. 6 OF A SERIES OF ANNOUNCEMENTS ISSUED BY THE DEPARTMENT OF MUNITIONS AND SUPPLY, HONOURABLE C. D. HOWE, MINISTER

Answering YOUR QUESTIONS about the GASOLINE SHORTAGE

Who supplied the gasoline for the building of the Alaska Highway? ... Canada did. How much aviation gasoline is used in a bomber raid over Germany? ... 1,000 bombers and fighter escorts use more than 1,000,000 gallons. How far must a tanker travel when supplying gasoline to the South Pacific war zone? ... 14,000 miles—there, and back.

Italy Government Battles Desperately To Avert Famine

By VICTOR M. BIENSTOCK
ROME (ONA Cable)—The Italian government today was mustering all propaganda and publicity agencies in liberated territory behind its desperate campaign to collect enough grain to provide a basic minimum bread ration for its people and avert threatened famine during the coming winter.

With virtually no hope the United Nations will be prepared to come to their aid by shipping in badly-needed grain, meat or stockfish and fats, the Italian authorities are trying to collect enough of the current grain harvests in the "granaries of the people" to provide every person in liberated territory with 300 grams of bread a day. This should be sufficient, Ministry of Agriculture experts say, to maintain life and prevent too great physical deterioration.

The area under grain cultivation this year is less than in any year since 1939 and is estimated at about 2,000,000 hectares south of the Allied "winter-line" along the Volturno. Cultivation has also been seriously handicapped by a shortage of fertilizer, and insufficient manpower owing to displacement of the population.

What worsens the Italian food problem, according to Italian experts, is that the principal grain-producing areas are still in the battle zone and hence cannot be reckoned on this year, or are in German-held territory. The area now under government control was never self-sufficient in grain and relied on shipments from the north.

In collecting the harvests, the government has to overcome years of resistance on the part of the farmers to government grain collections which were conducted first by the Mussolini regime and then by the German occupation authorities. In places like Sicily, particularly, the farmers, over the years worked out elaborate methods to defeat the hated crop collectors, burying each year a large part of their harvest to sell later privately.

Organization of the "granaries of the people" and the whole wheat collection job is under the direction of a former professor of physiology at the University of Naples, Dr. Gino Bergami, who was drafted into the government service when dependable Democrats were required to replace ousted Fascists.

Prof. Bergami, who is now under-secretary of the Ministry of Agriculture, in an interview today, pointed out the difficulties in collecting the grain harvests. In the first place, he pointed out, there is a shortage of equipment due to seizure by the Germans and war destruction. Many threshing machines are out of commission owing to lack of spare parts and gasoline to run them. Then, he added, there is the difficult problem of transportation since the government has little or no transportation facilities at its disposal.

Reports on the progress of the collections are coming in very slowly, he pointed out, owing to communications difficulties.

He expressed the hope that the United Nations would see their way clear to helping Italy pull through the winter by permitting the import of additional grain or other protein foods.

Bishop Dies in China Without Knowing Honor

VANCOUVER (CP)—Rt. Rev. En Su Yu, first honorary doctor of divinity at the University of British Columbia Anglican Theological College and Anglican bishop for the Shanghai area, died in China, April 25, friends here were notified Wednesday.

At the time of his death, Bishop Yu was bishop for the Episcopal Church of the United States with oversight in Hong Kong, where he had contacted many Canadian prisoners.

A 1917 graduate of U.B.C., he had lived in China for the last 25 years. Last year the college honored him with the first honorary D.D. it had ever conferred. Bishop Yu died before the letter carrying news of the honor had reached him.

Explosives—

the "accelerator" of Canada's Metal Production

SERVES CANADA

THROUGH four centuries of national history, Canada's mineral production has steadily grown. Today, in the fifth year of the war, the magnitude of this industry has assumed world-wide importance. Canada is the world's largest exporter of base metals.

Night and day, since the beginning of war, these essential metals have poured forth in ever increasing quantities. Production in Nickel is up 17.2%, Iron ore 54%, Zinc 43.5% and Magnesium 65,000%.

Canada has played an important role in providing these metals for war. The Dominion supplies the United Nations with 15% of their copper, 16% of their lead, 18% of their zinc, 95% of their nickel and 40% of their aluminum. These figures are impressive because they indicate that for the first time in our national history, Canada has become a world power in base metal production.

Explosives to speed the production of base metals is another product of Industrial Chemistry which serves Canada in war and peace.

Crops Deteriorate

OTTAWA (CP)—With the exception of wheat, principal Canadian crops during July showed some deterioration from the outlook during June, the Dominion Bureau of Statistics reported Wednesday. Wheat condition figures for the Prairie provinces, based on weather factors, showed improvement in Manitoba and Alberta, but only slight improvement in Saskatchewan.

Feed grains, expressed as a percentage of the long-time average yield per acre, declined in the three provinces.

Cows Must Work

LONDON (AP)—A report of the German food ministry received here today forecast a growing milk shortage, explaining: "During the grain harvest, cows must be utilized as draft animals."

One Woman's Day...

By NANCY HODGES

HOTELMAN'S VIEWS

ASKED TO SPEAK at a businessmen's luncheon the other day, I found myself seated next to a well-known hotel man.

Naturally, we chatted about the war and the prospects of an early victory. We also discussed war's effect upon the hotel business.

I commented upon the many U.S. visitors, who seem to be here in larger numbers than ever before.

So I was interested to hear from "mine host" of one effect of the gasoline shortage upon our annual summer "invasion" from the south.

STAYING LONGER NOW

ACCORDING TO HIM, the majority of Americans coming here in pre-war days were animated by the desire to cover as many miles as possible during their vacation period.

Consequently, they would spend a few hours here between boats or, if they had cars with them, would leave almost immediately for up-land.

But today, so he says, our U.S. friends are staying long enough really to see Victoria and to know it, instead of getting a mere bird's-eye view of the downtown section.

And most of them like it so well that they talk of coming again next year for an even longer stay.

His view confirms what I have learned from mainland-Canadian as well as American—holidaymakers.

PAYROLL PRODUCER
 NEEDLESS TO SAY, we are delighted when people from other parts like Victoria. The tourist trade is one of our biggest payroll producers.

But—and there is a but—if we are to continue to "sell" Victoria to tourists, we must remember to do a little stocktaking of our assets and, figuratively speaking, make sure that we put our best goods in the window.

For it is well to remember that war industries cannot go on for ever.

So as soon as peace comes we must be ready to encourage every other possible source of employment for our boys and girls when they come home.

This island, as an eastern American remarked to me a few weeks ago, has been endowed by Nature with everything to make it a Mecca for holidaymakers from all over the North American continent.

OUR BATHING PROBLEM
 SO WHY NOT work to that end? But let us take a look at Victoria first.

For as long as I can remember—and I have been here since 1916—someone or other has been agitating for the cleaning out of the Gorge, that lovely natural waterway.

But nothing has ever been done. I have no pet scheme to advance, but I do wish some steps could be taken to make this a decent place for swimming and canoeing.

There are so few warm sandy spots along our coast that outdoor bathing is restricted to a comparatively few hardy souls with the courage and endurance of Arctic explorers.

Even the few beaches which can be used for bathing are apt to collect barnacles of civilization in the shape of rotting garbage and tin cans.

OIL-SPOILED BEACH

LATELY A NEW menace has arisen. A reader of this column wrote me the other day drawing my attention to the beach at the foot of St. Lawrence Street, on Dallas Road.

Known as Sandy Beach, this little cove has been for many years the playground of grownups as well as children of the district and for miles around.

However, she writes, this beach has recently become unusable on account of oil.

According to her, "this oil is drained from ships and hauled by truck from somewhere else—either in the city or Victoria—and dumped in the bay, so that the sea side of the beach as well as the beach itself, is a mass of oil."

NEEDS LOOKING INTO
 WITH TRANSPORTATION facilities such that families must of necessity stay near home, it seems reprehensible to use our only beaches as a repository for discarded oil.

Surely some other method or place could be found for its disposal?

Possibly the offenders, whoever they may be, do not realize the result of their thoughtlessness. Perhaps this reminder may have the desired effect.

Speaking of transportation facilities reminds me of another thing which seems to call for comment—that is the condition of some of our streetcar tracks.

COOK STREET HAZARD
 FORT STREET, at its western end, and the "Dardanelles" have both been fixed—for which improvement—thank goodness!

It may be that the powers that be are also planning to carry out other repairs when labor and material are available.

But just in case they have repaired Fort Street on the principle that the old lady followed with her church-going bonnet—"I always turn the feather to the congregation"—I bespeak a word for Cook Street.

Anyone who lives in the Fairfield district knows that from Rockland Avenue on the famous rocky road to Dublin in an Irish jaunting-car isn't it when it comes to riding in the No. 6 streetcar.

Careful as the drivers are, passengers are jounced and bounced within an inch of their lives on those tracks.

BAD FOR LIVERS AND TIRES
 AS FOR THOSE who drive their own cars, many a tire and spring—as well as many a liver—has been ruined in cavorting over the deep potholes.

I realize, of course, that wartime exigencies have to be taken into account. But I notice that there is sometimes a tendency to overlook the war as an excuse for neglecting things.

After all, the improvement of our roads, our beaches and other assets will not only help us to "sell" Victoria to the tourists, climatically blessed city that much the more attractive to those of us who are privileged to live here.

Grain

WINNIPEG (CP)—Wheat export to the United Kingdom totalled 1,750,000 bushels of No. 2 northern today, while business with the United States was estimated at 500,000 bushels of low grades.

In the rye pit futures moved irregular during the session after advancing 1/4 cent in early trading.

Closing prices were 1/4 to 3/4 cent lower.

CHICAGO (AP)—Grain futures advanced in early dealings today as hot, dry weather continued over drought-damaged portions of the corn belt east of the Mississippi, but oats and rye fell off.

Wheat closed 1/4 lower to 3/4 higher; oats were 1/4 to 3/4 off; rye was 1/4 to 3/4 down, and barley was unchanged to 1/4 higher.

TORONTO (CP)—Moderate gains were netted by the mining group and the industrial stocks today. A small index loss was posted by the western oils. Volume was about even with that of the previous session at about 375,000 shares.

The strong market developed in Abitibi pfd. was a feature of the day. It advanced to 49 1/2, a net gain of 2 1/2. The common was up 1/4 to 44 1/2. The preferred moved in heavy volume.

Interested leaders held fractional gains. The gold group slowly improved.

Fairly active were base metals. Losses in the western oil list were insignificant. Royalite lost 1/4.

Toronto Index:
 20 industrials 127.45, up .39
 20 golds 112.10, up .76

N.Y. Stocks

NEW YORK (AP)—Stocks generally continued to edge upward

in today's market under leadership of low-priced utilities although the recently sprinting junior motors were forced to absorb further selling and the majority operated in the minus column.

The feeling persisted that the list had done considerable discounting of reconversion troubles which might accompany a Nazi collapse and it was noted that issues with good peace prospects were the liveliest movers. At that, many investors remained in the wait-and-see contingent on the idea the decline from the July top was far from being completed.

The utility speeders appeared in blocks running to 10,000 shares after a quiet and mixed opening. Mid-purchasing enthusiasm later seeped into pivotal steels, rails and scattered industrials, with gains ranging from fractions to around a point near the close.

Transfers were in the vicinity of 1,000,000 shares.

Canadian issues were quiet but C.P.R. gained 1/4 and Dome 1/4.

Dow Jones averages closed today as follows:
 30 industrials 145.65, up .76
 20 rails 41.18, up .76
 15 utilities 24.62, up .32
